The interior route

The coastal route

The areas are characterised by large rock formations and cliffs, with caves and grottos. The coast is dotted with small coves and bays, which offer opportunities for fishing and snorkelling. There are also a number of hiking trails that lead to beautiful viewpoints overlooking the sea.

Few, we head on to visit the cathedral of San Juan Bautista, which is adorned with works of art from the 15th and 16th centuries. Inside, we can admire the magnificent choir stalls, the stained glass windows, and the paintings of the altarpieces. The cathedral is a masterpiece of Late Gothic Style, with a mix of Andalusian and Renaissance influences.

The coastal route begins at the Lomas de San Cristóbal, overlooking the Bay of Algeciras, one of the most beautiful bays in Andalucia. The bay is surrounded by cliffs and beaches, making it a popular destination for holidaymakers and surfers.

Handicrafts include traditional pottery, lacework, and silver jewelry. Local craftspeople produce a wide range of products, including ceramics, textiles, and metalwork, which are sold in the many markets and craft fairs held throughout the year.

The coastal route ends at the town of Tarifa, where we can relax on the beach or explore the old town, with its narrow streets and historic buildings. The town is also a popular starting point for day trips to the Alcazaba and the Castle of Tarifa, two important landmarks in the history of Andalucia.

The interior route continues with a visit to the town of Algeciras, which is known for its beautiful cathedrals and churches. We can also explore the nearby town of La Línea, which is famous for its seafood and tapas bars.
