Sierra de Aracena & Picos de Aroche

FINCA MONTE GALLINA. PRIVILEGED ENVIRONMENT TO PRACTICE ECO-TOURISM

Land of 60 hectares located next to a little village called El Quejigo of the well-known municipality Jabugo.

A unique place with an imposing forest landscape, with a rich variety of wild flora and fauna, high natural regeneration of its forests, holm oaks, cork oaks, chestnut trees, fruit trees, and orchards which has preserved the typology of its buildings and stone walls.

GET TO KNOW A TRADITIONAL-STYLE ORGANIC FARMING

For the time being it is an agricultural, livestock and forestry holding with organic certification. In this ecosystem: cows, sheep, chickens, pigs, and a horse live side by side with wild animals such as deers, wild boars, and foxes.

Disconnect and live your eco-moment

Walkthrough its wide path network which includes privately-owned paths as well as the rest of the Sierra.

On foot, by bike, or horseback. Stop to observe the livestock and the poultry, to listen to the birds or the sound of the moving leaves, cross its streams and enjoy the colors of its sunsets. Lovers of mycology, ornithology, nature photography, or astronomy will find the perfect enclave in this nature reserve.

LIVE AS THEY DID BEFORE

These old sheepfolds are in the middle of Aracena's Natural Park, the place where cattle and shepherds gathered in the evening. They are made of traditional materials such as stone and brick made in an old brick oven in the state.

You will enjoy waking up with the birds singing, breathing fresh air, reading a book under an oak tree, or watching the starry sky... Immerse yourself!

TRADITIONAL ARCHITECTURE: ORIGANUM AND LAVANDULA

Origanum and Lavándula are 2 rural houses surrounded by a stone wall.

Ideal for couples or families.

With capacity for 2/4 people, distributed in a double bedroom and a loft, kitchen, bathroom and living room with its own fireplace.

There is no television.

Feel nature's power: its silence, smells, and colors
