Albaicín, stroll through the old Arab quarter

A trip to Granada should take you on a private walk through the old Arab Quarter, El Barrio del Albaicín.

Its cobbled streets, mosaics, cisterns, fountains, light, viewpoints, a spell that you will experience in the hands of one of our guides, declared a World Heritage Site, on its doors and walls there are remains of Arab traces.

The Albaicín offers spectacular viewpoints with impressive views over Granada and the Alhambra. Mirador de San Nicolás Mirador de San Cristóbal, or a sunset from Sacromonte.

Or the Mirador de La Mezquita Mayor de Granada, an Islamic temple inaugurated in 2003. It is the first mosque built in the city since 1492, after a hiatus of 500 years.

Carmenes abound, "Carmen, house with Arabic origin" karm "means vine, in almost all Carmenes there is a green roof to shade the house.

El Bañuelo, in Bajo Albaicín is one of the few oldest existing Arab Hammams or public baths.

Stop for a tea to enjoy the Arab flavors

Federico García Lorca, visit and gastronomy

Federico García Lorca is an important part of the history of Granada. Many corners accompanied the life of García Lorca around the world, but his favorite corners are in Granada where he was born and lived.

Tailor-made Lorca experiences, a special tour about Federico's life and places, on a First Route in the house where he lived in Valderrubio and La Vega where he wrote.

Second Route between Viznar and Alfacar

The Barranco de Viznar is located where Federico is paid tribute in the place where it is believed that he was assassinated along with his three companions in a wide strip of land that goes from Alfacar to Viznar.

Fuente Grande, the Fuente de las Lágrimas or Aynadamar, according to Arabic terminology, is a spring located in the upper part of Alfacar (Granada), where the water from the spring emerges through small bubbles reminiscent of tears.

Aynadamar comes from the Arabic (ayn ad-dama'a) and is composed of two words, 'ayn ('eye' and, by extension, 'source' or 'spring') and dama'a (tears), that is, Ain Addamai. The water rises from the ground. Ziri era.

A third route can be in the city of Granada, walking and learning about the history with the Guide, passing by the Hotel in Tablas street that was the House of Luis Rosales, where Lorca took refuge when they were going to arrest him. Her patio remains, or walking to "La Huerta de San Vicente" house that belonged to the family before going to the United States, and visit the García Lorca Center
